Bring your questions, your stories, your experiences and be part of the buzz that's created when pioneers gather together to learn from each other and from mission practitioners.

COURSE DETAILS

The MA has been developed by pioneers for pioneers and is designed to be flexible enough for students to complete while still working in their contexts – minimising the gap between learning and practice.

A three-year programme: There are six modules to complete within the first two years, followed by a dissertation of 12,000-15,000 words in the third year.

The six modules currently include:

- Mission and Evangelism
- Missional Ecclesiology
- Leadership and Collaboration
- Anthropology and Mission
- Theologies in Global Perspective
- Research Methods

MA candidates can also attend any of the CMS Pioneer Mission Leadership Training undergraduate modules at no extra cost, such as Mission Spirituality, the Missional Entrepreneurship Week and Bible in Context.

Most modules take place on Tuesdays at CMS in Oxford and are taught over five days.

Students pursuing ordination will have additional input through our partnership with Ripon College Cuddesdon.

A MISSIONAL LENS

"I think our primary distinctive as a course is that we view everything through a missional lens. CMS has 200+ years of cross-cultural mission experience, which is invaluable as we think about pioneering mission in all the cultures and contexts existing in Britain today."

Dr Cathy Ross, MA course leader

In addition to this specific mission focus, other unique components of the CMS MA include:

- Accreditation by Durham University, one of the top theological institutions in the UK
- Mentoring
- Weekends spent in pioneering mission contexts
- Pioneer practitioners contribute to all modules
- A dynamic learning community
- Opportunities to publish through CMS
- Annual Conversations Day conference, with leaders exploring subjects such as The Pioneer Gift, Pioneering Spirituality and Missional Entrepreneurship
- Access to the renowned mission library at the Crowther Centre for Mission Education at CMS in Oxford

A DYNAMIC LEARNING COMMUNITY AND PRACTICAL OUTCOMES

"I began studying the MA with CMS to further develop my ministry skills.... throughout the journey of the course, my ministry practice within the local Bournemouth community and nightclub scene has hugely benefited. I really enjoy being able to apply and learn from theory and theology in order to inform my mission praxis." – Rachel

"Students really enjoy being part of a learning community and the connections that continue beyond the course. Pioneering mission is something that's not always understood within the wider church; the MA gives pioneers a language they can use to communicate their vision clearly as well as practical resources to further develop their calling." – Dr Cathy Ross, MA course leader

"The CMS MA is an excellent platform for students from around the world to explore what effective mission in Britain [looks] like... Students find the rich global awareness that shapes our multi-perspective conversations around mission in contemporary Britain helpful....Our foreign students come out feeling better equipped to engage in mission in Britain." – Harvey Kwiyani, MA faculty

"As a newly ordained pioneer minister, I was looking for the opportunity to learn more about God's mission and rub shoulders with other pioneers. CMS proved to be the perfect place for me as it combines vast mission experience and reflective culture with the desire to be relational." – Levi
