

Theological Perspectives: Community Development module

Led by Anna Ruddick and Carmel Murphy Elliott
from Urban Life (www.urbanlife.org)

Online sessions:

23 Jan, 6 Feb, 6 March,
20 March 2023

Residential Weekend:

10–12 February 2023

Turn over for more info

“Loved it!”

– Previous participant

To join and for info contact Helen
Harwood: helen.harwood@churchmissionsociety.org

Theological Perspectives:

Community Development module

*Led by Anna Ruddick and Carmel Murphy Elliott
from Urban Life (www.urbanlife.org)*

Online sessions:

23 Jan, 6 Feb,
6 March,
20 March 2023

Residential Weekend:

10–12 February 2023

Cost: £550 credit
or £470 audit

“It has reaffirmed
my approach, what I have learnt from experience I can now
name and articulate theologically and with more confidence.”

– Previous participant

In this blended module, we explore the interdisciplinary field of Community Development alongside Christian theology and approaches to mission.

There are four online teaching days and a residential weekend, which provides opportunity to meet community development practitioners, reflect on models of community development and learn together in context. Throughout the module we consider Community Development in a range of contexts including encouraging participants to reflect on their own community and develop their own practice.

Previous participants have described the module as gritty, relevant, insightful, thoughtful, instructive, stimulating.

To join and for info contact Helen Harwood: helen.harwood@churchmissionsociety.org

CHURCH MISSION SOCIETY